Blackbucks prefer open grasslands and plains, where they live in herds and feed on grasses, pods, and flowers. Known for their speed and agility, they can run up to 80 kilometers per hour to escape predators. In Indian culture, the blackbuck has been associated with purity and is even mentioned in ancient scriptures. Sadly, due to excessive hunting and habitat loss, their numbers declined sharply in the past. Today, they are protected under the Wildlife Protection Act of 1972, and several sanctuaries have been established to conserve them. The blackbuck remains a symbol of beauty, grace, and ecological balance.
